SUNDAY SCHOOLS OF EARLINGTON

Will Unite This Christmas in Distributing Gifts to Those Whom

SANTA CLAUS MIGHT FORGET

At a meeting of the committees from the various churches and Sunday schools held after prayer meeting Wednesday night it was decided that all the schools of the city would unite this year and make their distribution of gifts and provisions where they would do the most good. A strong appeal is made to every citizen of the town to give something that will add to the comfort of some needy family or make glad the heart of a little child. Remember the poor of your home town at this time when you and your family are blest with all the good things in life.

There will be a suitable place selected for you to bring your gifts for this cause and the place will be made known in next Tuesday's paper.

Remember that anything in the way of provision or toys will be gratefully accepted and appreciated. The place for depositing these gifts will also be announced at the various Sunday schools next Sunday.

Mrs. Tom Ryan went to Madisonville Tuesday afternoon.

BODY RETURNED TO ALTON

Prother Has It Exhumed and Makes Identification—Smith Examined

Hopkinsville, Ky., Dec. 13.—In a final effort to reach some definite conclusion in the mysterious case of Miss Helen Cannell of Alton, Ill., who died here Thanksgiving day from burns received in an abandoned negro school house six miles from town, Frank Smyth, the Cerulean Springs liveryman who voluntarily made a statement Monday telling who she was, was questioned for an hour this afternoon by County Attorney Smith and Judge Knight in the presence of A. H. Cannell, brother of the deceased.

Nothing really new was learned and the case remains as puzzling a mystery after two weeks of investigating as at first. Mr. Smith answered all questions readily and freely, repeating his statement of Monday that he had known the woman in St. Louis where she operated a small store, and had sold her tobacco. But he reiterated that their relations had been of a purely business nature and his acquaintance was a casual friendship.

He said he could not offer any theory for her coming to Cerulean to see him other than it was to secure a loan of $100. He said she had never confided in him as to her business affairs or love affairs, if she had any. He never saw her show any preference for one person over another and that she had always deported herself in the most ladylike manner. On the trip from Cerulean Springs with him she talked little and only on general topics but appeared entirely rational.

He said that she could not explain her long walk out the Princeton road and going into the school house for the night and declared that he was as anxious as anybody to clear up the mystery of her death and ready to do anything in his power.

The body of the woman was exhumed this afternoon and examined by her brother, who said there was no doubt that it is that of his sister. He plans to leave here tonight with it for Alton, where it will be buried.

Entertains Workers' Conference

The Workers' Conference of the Christian Sunday school was entertained by Miss Hazel Fawcett on Monday evening when many things concerning the future work of the school were arranged, among other things being a holiday social, to which all members will be invited. After the business session the hostess served very dainty refreshments.

WILSON'S MERCY FOR "SLACKER"

Court Martial's Imposition of Drastic Punishment Approved

Washington, Dec. 13.—President Wilson today approved the action of an army court martial in sentencing Lewis O. Gardner of the New Mexico militia to dishonorable discharge and a year in prison at hard labor, for failure to obey the federal call for border duty last June but remitted the prison sentence because the case had been pressed as a test.

War department officials regard the decision as important because of the warning it gives to more than 10,000 enrolled members of the national guard who have not appeared for federal service.

Gardner was enrolled as a member of B company, First infantry, New Mexico national guard. He was one of a considerable number who refused to be mustered into the federal service, but the others changed their minds when courts martial were ordered and joined their companies rather than face trial. Major Blanton Winship of the judge advocate general's department, was specially assigned to carry on the prosecution before a court composed of both regular and national guard officers, the latter from the accused soldier's own regiment.

When the case came up for approval Secretary Baker took the position that Gardner was not aware of the gravity of his offense and as the purpose of the proceedings had been served by the conviction, recommended that the prison sentence be remitted.

Army officers say the right of the federal government to enforce service of national guardsmen has been well established and a precedent set for the treatment of future "slackers." The claim, however, that the fact that between 10,000 and 15,000 enrolled members of the guards never have been located for federal service, constitutes a serious impeachment of the whole national guard system and expect to have this point fully presented to the military committees of congress, during the present session.

"DO UNTO OTHERS"

Friend, have you ever asked yourself the question? "Is my neighborhood any the better for my presence in it?" Has your community life been such that were you to remove to some other locality you would be really missed, and missed with regret?

We believe that many of us who consider ourselves good citizens and good neighbors, if we were to seriously consider this question, would be somewhat puzzled to find the correct answer.

We all know people of our community of whom it were idle to ask this question. We know beyond question that they are a real asset to any community that is so fortunate as to claim them. Let us, then, in the light of their lives, truthfully and impartially judge our own lives, and let us profit by that judgment.

All of us know that good angel of the neighborhood. Frequently she is a frail little mite of womanhood, quiet and unassuming, with the most humble appreciation of her own virtues. Yet whenever sickness or sorrow develop in the countryside we instinctively look to find her in attendance, ready to efface herself in her ministrations to others; giving of the faith of her own large heart to sus-tain the failing courage of those in need.

And who does not know the handy man of the community? He is always busy, yet never so busy that he can not grant a favor to a neighbor. He is the man who, when he starts to town, is hailed by every housewife on his route and loaded down with commissions and orders to be filled, until frequently when returning home his neighbors get most of his load. He is also the man you send for if you have a sick horse or cow; if your crops do not turn out to suit you, you consult him. You call on him, if a subscription is to be circulated, and he is always ready to not only chip in, but he cheerfully takes the paper from house to house and from man to man until the object is attained. In fact, when we contemplate the number of "thankye" jobs he gets through with in the run of a year we often wonder how on earth he has found time to attend to his own affairs. But he has, and he has attended to them well.

The truth is that we all waste many valuable hours and days that might better be given to these kindly ministrations to others' comfort and pleasure. We ponder our own cares and perplexities, burdens and sorrows until they loom as mountains in our pathway, obscuring our neighbors and their affairs, until we frequently forget that they, too, have cares and sorrows, many times more grievous than our own.

It would be of real benefit to us if we could at times forget self, and enter into the joys and sorrows of others.

Try it, friend, and you will be surprised to realize how soon the care and sorrow have flown from your own life and left naught but joy and peace in their stead.

A Nice Xmas Gift

What would be more appropriate for her or him than a year's subscription to America's greatest magazine, "Hearth?" Price $1.50 the year. Think it over.

"STEP LIVELY" IS CALL TO WAITER

Cincinnati Citizen Can't Get Meals Quickly Enough Now.

HE HAS A TANLAC APPETITE

Says He Had About Given Up Eating on Account of Consequent Bad Effects, but Took Tanlac and Now Can Enjoy a Square Meal Without Feeling the Least Distress.

"Step lively, waiter," is the cheery call heard in any restaurant that Walter Applegate, 8013 Waller avenue, Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, O., may patronize.

But since that command is accompanied by the "Tanlac Smile" the waiter is glad to step lively.

Mr. Applegate said:

Was Always Miserable.

"I can sit down now and enjoy a square meal, eat anything my appetite craves, and get away with it. For three years before I took Tanlac I was bothered by intestinal fermentation of food I ate. I could not eat any starchy stuff, highly seasoned or sweet dishes.

"When I ate any of them I would suffer severely with gas and bloating, and with sour stomach. I had frequent pains in my back, and my bowel action was irregular. I had to physic with pills and such things all the time."

The "Tanlac Smile" just wouldn't stay off Applegate's face as he told of the relief the medicine gave him.

No Distress Now.

"Tanlac," he continued, "has changed all that. I can eat anything I want. I regard Tanlac as the finest bowel regulator I ever took. It has helped me and I am thankful for it."

Tanlac may be obtained in the following nearby towns: EARLINGTON, Geo. King & Sons; MADISONVILLE, Gardiner & Bowmer; MORTONS GAP, B. T. Does yours bring joy to the breakfast table?

North—East—South—West—women are solving the coffee problem. Armies have solved it. "An army travels on its stomach" and of the army breakfast, ask any soldier what he would miss most. One of the greatest American judges has said that unhappiness in the home commences with the first cup of poor coffee.

There is a coffee which brings a million men to breakfast "in a hurry." Today you can introduce its rich, full flavor in your home. Serve Arbuckles' for a week and notice how much more his breakfast means to him. Bring joy to your breakfast table.

Today there are whole towns where Arbuckles is practically the only coffee used. In one State alone, in a year, four pounds of Arbuckles' Coffee was used for every man, woman and child in the State—four times as many pounds of coffee as the population of the State!
